

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

5.1 Conclusion

Abon se'i babi with sambal luat is one of the innovations from se'i babi which was made or created to help or make it easier for consumers who want to consume se'i babi but don't want to waste their time cooking or heating se'i babi. So, the creation of this product really helps consumers. Abon se'i babi with sambal lu'at also has a longer shelf life than se'i babi itself and regarding its storage location, in this case, abon se'i babi is superior to se'i babi. This product also contains sambal lu'at which is usually served alongside se'i babi, so consumers don't need to look for chili sauce to eat with se'i babi. Consumers will be interested in this product, because it is something new or a new product that they have not encountered anywhere before. This is an additional value for this abon se'i with sambal luat. The taste and aroma of this abon se'i babi is quite delicious and good review, but the texture of this abon se'i babi is not satisfactory because it is still little bit soft and not dry, this is because the pork is roasted first, so it becomes hard and difficult to soften, although It has been steamed first. There needs to be more testing to find a way to make the texture of this abon se'i babi like the general shredded meat we find in the market.

5.2 Suggestion

It is important to carry out further research in handling the process of making abon se'i babi in terms of the texture of the shredded meat itself. It is necessary to find out why the texture of abon se'i babi is soft and not like shredded meat in general. And look for the correct way to correct or improve the texture of this abon se'i babi, so this abon se'i babi can be perfect and similar to shredded pork in general.