

CHAPTER I

INTRODUCTION

1.1 Background of Study

Nowadays, having a degree not agreement of employment, nor a positive indicator of particular scope in job. As a graduates must have current and good relevant knowledge, partical experience, soft skills, focus on work, and positive attitude will allowed to be competitive in job market. Industrial training is a program which aims to provide a managed good practical training within particulartime frame, provided by goverment organization and in private sector. As a students in college, important to do industrial training because it has affect to experience anddevelop a skills that may not be found in college/school. Industrial training teach ushow to communicate with customer or have connection with more people in industry which help us in the future.

Industrial training program the only step to the real world of work. The purpose of industrial training not torturing students, but introduce students to the real work. If in college the author only get theory and examples, but when the author do industrialtraining we get a lot of practical work. When the author start an industrial raining/internship, we can meet a lot of experienced people in that place. The author can get as much knowledge as possible for our future. While the author learn a lot of new things, we can use the internship opportunity to prove ourselves that the author can be counted on for the company. They will important to the author have a good tract record in the company and making it easier for us to find work in the future. With doing industrialtraining/internship, we can be independent person.

1.2 Industrial Training Objective

- The purpose of implementing this industrial training/internship program to increase student insight, so students can find out new things.
- Internship program to improve the quality of students.
- Students can be trained to deal with problems contextually, so student can obtain solutions to these problems by applying theory and knowledge.

1.3 The Benefits of Industrial Training

1. For Students

Internship activities give students opportunity to apply all the knowledge that has been learned in OTTIMMO International MasterGourmet Academy and details about professional work standards. This experience then becomes a provision in living a real career path.

2. For College:

Fostering good relations and the exchange of information between De Soematra 1910 and OTTIMMO International MasterGourmet Academy.

3. For Company:

De Soematra 1910 had benefit from student's innovations and they can help the company to get more work