

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

5.1 CONCLUSION

Jelly with the addition of kumis kucing is a variation of innovation that can strengthen local strong resources as a traditional medicine for generations. Kumis kucing are a traditional medicine that has many benefits for the body and can treat several diseases, but it is a pity that many do not know the benefits of this kumis kucing herbal medicine itself. Jelly is a dessert with various flavors that can be created and combined. Here these two ingredients put together into a product which will later be more delicious if consumed because kumis kucing themselves have a slightly bitter taste and smell of leaves which are very pungent by making kumis kucing into jelly and with the addition of natural sugarcane juice to enhance taste and oranges as an aroma neutralizer which is of course safe for consumption and more useful for the body and health. The total number of calories obtained from this product is 522.7 per package with a safe and attractive packaging which is expected to attract many consumers and of course at an affordable price per can at a price 20,000 330ml size.

5.2 SUGGESTION

Jelly kumis kucing are a type of food that has a fairly high humidity, and the shelf life is not too long. Jelly kumis kucing require proper packaging and storage so that the quality is maintained in the hands of consumers.