

CHAPTER IV

CONCLUSION

4.1 PROBLEM AND SOLUTION

During the internship, the Author finds it hard to adapt especially to the new environment. The Author was really struggle to follow their work flow that faster than I've ever experienced before. At first also it hard to understand what they are spoken, because the author itself has never work with full of foreigner before. Yet the time passed, the author felt better with the flow and understand what supposed to do. From all of that, the only one of the challenges that the author facing is trying to interact with the customer while serving some food, since the author was placed on the omellete live action. At the first time, the authors felt it was hard to adjust to the situation. There the Author Need to remember every Guest who ordering an told to the service team to deliver. Yet as the time Passed the Author can be focused and can handle the Situation thus remember All kind of request.

Since the Author was the only one there in the kitchen, almost all the problem that the author faced was perfectly handled by their self and some good advice from the chef itself. One day our early morning chef was on purpose not coming for duty, so all of the buffet was not ready on that time at 5.30 in the morning. Although the buffet opened at 6. 30. So the author and the Demi Chef was really running at that time. Until before 6.30 all the food well prepared and ready to serve. For the Author all of the solution to the problems are the conducting the best team work to solve it all.

4.2 BENEFIT

By doing the internship abroad, the Author has learned A lot about new Culture, New Dish from Around the World, New Recipe, Facing many Different Kind of People. The author seen how the real work life is, the author also Know how to work with team are. Respecting each other was really important thing in every way of working anywhere.

4.3 SUGESTION

- For Ottimmo

Always Monitor the students Who Got the Internship abroad

- For Students

Never Stop Learning something new, always accept all the task even its easy or the hard things on your life, they all want you to grow well.

- For Dusit Thani Hotel

Keep improving, give chance to the new intern to try every outlet in the hotels.

4.4 GENERAL OPINION

In the Authors opinion by doing this internship, it was really important to has done this internship, especially abroad, the author can learn more, having a good connection with other peers and establishment from another country, have a lot of new friends. Not only to learn about cooking, the author also learnt about life itself, how to face some problem alone and solve it well, although by the slowest way in the beginning. It is important to understand what every people wants and every people need in the Hotel, we are a team ready to serve the best hospitality there. Overall the Author was really enjoy the internship although in a very short of time. But at least the Author has learnt a lot and creating some memorable Experience.
