

CHAPTER IV

CONCLUSION

4.1 Problem and Solution

While at Arouna, the problems faced were difficulty adapting and not understanding correctly about the products being produced. The author also has to quickly learn quite a lot of products and lack of knowledge to use tools in the kitchen. It took a month for the author to really understand and adapt to the environment and products, but to overcome these difficulties, every Today the author takes part in making the product, whether it's decorating it, compiling it or making it.

The benefits of apprenticeship for the author are that the author can know new things in making a product, whether it's from the technique and also what quality materials they use to maintain the quality and taste of their product, and the author also knows how the activity of a cafe/bakery can run

4.2 Benefit of The Internship

- Can get to know people who are experienced in their field.
- Improve skills in work.
- Can build relationships with people in the internship.
- Can learn how to make products and what techniques are used to make them.
- Being organized and disciplined at work

4.3 Opinion

As someone who has done an internship for 6 months and is also an ottimo student, the author highly recommends Arouna Café, because the staff there are very friendly and always help the author. The author there also educates experts in two fields, namely pastry and viennoiserie/bread. And also get to meet seniors who are experienced in their fields.

4.4 Suggestion

4.4.1 For Ottimmo International:

- Increasing cooperation between other schools to promote ottimo as a place of learning for future chefs.
- Provide more new menus for practice.
- Always put students first and hopefully become the best culinary school.

4.4.2 For Arouna Café :

- Added more staff for the baking and pastry department.
- Do deep cleaning once a week or once a month.
- Need to add or improve the air conditioner in the cold kitchen, because the cold kitchen is not cold enough.
- The need for a cupboard for storage room as a place to store items to make it tidier.
- Replacing damaged equipment such as whisks, silicone moulds, and silicon mats.

4.5 Memorable Moment

- Can learn something new.
- Can make their own products with or without senior assistance.
- Can study in the hot kitchen and help in the hot kitchen too.
